Estes Clams Up At Senate Probe

Texan Refuses To Talk About Cotton Deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billie Sol Estes learned Tuesday how fast a public figure tumbles from who's who in the news to "who's he?"—and Senate investigators learned almost nothing from the Texas promoter.

Estes, whose financial empire collapsed in a ruin of fraud charges and bankruptcy, refused to do much more than confirm that he was the man whose go-getter activities captured the headlines last year.

To question after question about his dealings with government officials, and even whether he knew any officials, his answer was: "I respectfully decline to answer on grounds that it might tend to incriminate me, sir."

Probe Resumed After Year

The exchanges occurred as the Senate Investigations subcommittee resumed, after a lapse of more than a year, its probe of whether Estes received favoritism from the government in his cotton acreage allotment deals.

When the hearings opened in the summer of 1962, the marble-columned old Senate caucus room was jammed with an overflow crowd of spectators, even though Estes himself wasn't called then.

Tuesday, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., subcommittee chairman, didn't bother to book the revived inquiry into the caucus room. Instead, he held the hearing in a smaller committee room.

The press proved it hadn't forgotten the colorful Texan. Cameramen and reporters jockeyed for position as the nattily attired Estes strode down the hall for the closed hearing that preceded a 30-minute open session.

Spectators Outnumbered

But the spectators were few, outnumbered by the reporters and cameramen.

As the public hearing began, the Texan gave his name and address and agreed he was the man the subcommittee investigated during the summer of 1962.

McClellan, and other senators later, repeatedly offered him a chance to reply to charges made against him during the hearings.

"I do not wish to make any statement at this time," Estes answered, adding he didn't want to say when he would care to talk.

Gen. Hodge, 73, Dies In Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. John R. Hodge, former chief of U.S. Army field forces, died Tuesday at Walter Reed Army Hospital. The four-star general, one of the most respected and dedicated American commanders in the Pacific during World War II, was 73.

Hodges' family said he entered the hospital Nov. 6, the cause of death was not immediately disclosed. He will be buried Wednesday at 3 p.m. EST at Arlington National Cemetery.

Hodge was a native of Goldsboro, N.C. He led Army troops in the bloody invasions of Leyte and Okinawa during World War II and was assistant commander in the invasion of Guadalcanal. His last command before retiring was at Ft. Monroe, Va. as head of Army field forces.

Soviet Holds Touring Yale Prof As Spy

Barghoorn, Author Of Books Critical Of Russia, Seized

MOSCOW (AP)—Prof. Frederick Charles Barghoorn, a Yale University Russian specialist who has been visiting the Soviet Union as a tourist, is under arrest on a charge of spying, the Soviets announced Tuesday.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Barghoorn, 52, the author of several books critical of the Soviet Union, was picked up "the other day" in Moscow for espionage by state security organs and an investigation is under way.

The Foreign Ministry notified the U.S. Embassy of his detention—the first such case involving an American since the summer thaw in the cold war.

Neither the Foreign Ministry nor Tass disclosed when he was arrested, where he is held or details of the charge. Embassy officials were not permitted to see him.

The arrest provoked astonishment in Western quarters. Doubt was expressed as to the basis for any charge against him, for Barghoorn's activities were largely on the cultural side and he did not even carry a camera.

A usual Soviet charge against foreign tourists accused of espionage is photographing military installations, which can mean subjects as ordinary as a bridge.

There was speculation that Barghoorn was arrested in retaliation for a roundup Oct. 29 of three Russians at Englewood, N.J., by FBI agents investigating a spy conspiracy case.

Of that group, two Soviet diplomats accredited to the United Nations claimed diplomatic immunity. They were expelled from the United States. The third—Igor A. Ivanov of New York City, a chauffeur for the Soviet trading agency Amtorg—is held. He faces charges along with John William Butenko, 38, of Orange, N.J., an American electronics engineer.

Barghoorn is a professor in Yale's political science department and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the editorial board of the American Slavic Review.

Leavenworth Break Foiled

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UPI)—Two convicts, leaving a trail of bound and imprisoned guards, attempted to escape from the federal penitentiary Tuesday by using a ladder to climb over a 40-foot wall.

They were halted at the top of the wall when a guard shot one of them in the legs.

The general prison alarm sounded as the men scrambled up a ladder to the top of the wall. After the convicts ignored orders to halt, guards from two towers began firing rifles at them.

Robert Robbins, 28, a convicted kidnaper from San Antonio, Tex., was shot in both legs as he reached the top of the wall. His companion, Quitman Strickland, 28, stopped and grabbed Robbins to keep him from falling off the wall. Strickland, a convicted bank robber from Jacksonville, Fla., surrendered without resistance.

Roy Moore, associate warden, said Strickland and Robbins had the help of three or four other convicts in the escape attempt.

Missing Coed Case A Repeat?

ALBANY, Calif. (AP)—Is one of the most bizarre kidnap-murder cases in the nation's criminal history about to be repeated? And in the same area?

The questions loom larger as police search for Judith Williamson, 18, who vanished Oct. 29 on her way from her Albany home to catch a bus. She was on her way to premed classes at the nearby University of California in Berkeley.

Since her disappearance in Alameda County, the only positive clue has been the recovery in adjacent Contra Costa County of the coed's white umbrella, its handle broken as if in a struggle. A boy found the umbrella in a trash can outside a store.

Manhattan Treasure Hunt

Detectives and policemen search the site of a demolished building on Manhattan's West Side yesterday for jewels from last Friday's $3 million robbery of a diamond district messenger wagon. Police said workers at the demolition site may have hidden some jewels there after they took them from the vehicle which the getaway driver abandoned when he couldn't operate its manual gear shift. Police have recovered a large share of the loot. (AP Photofax)

Justice Dept. Fails To Block Subpoena Bid

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge refused Tuesday to interfere in a state grand jury's investigation into the case of a car rented by the Justice Department and used to transport Negro integration leader Martin Luther King Jr.

The Dallas County grand jury, meanwhile, went ahead with its investigation at Selma.

The jury began the probe after Circuit Judge James A. Hare informed the jurors that "a grand jury makes its own rules and there are no limits on its authority except that it has territorial jurisdiction."

At Mobile, U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas denied a Justice Department motion for a temporary restraining order to prevent Dallas officials from subpoenaing six of the department's attorneys.

The six are heading by Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall, chief of the department's civil rights division, and his top assistant, John Doar.

The Justice Department then carried its case to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans, which set a hearing for 3 p.m. CST Wednesday.

Thomas set a hearing for Dec. 5 at Selma on a motion for a temporary injunction to ban serving of subpoenas on the Justice Department attorneys after two government motions were denied.

Convoy Cleared With Slight Delay

BERLIN (AP)—An American Army convoy rolled along the East German autobahn from Berlin Tuesday with little interference from the Russians.

The unit arrived in West Germany about 90 minutes late because of an argument with Soviet control officers. But the Soviets did not repeat the demands that held up a similar convoy for 41 hours last week.

The 54 men in 13 vehicles went to West Germany for field training.

Western commanders braced themselves for trouble when the convoy set out on the 110-mile run.

Anti-Spying Move Travel Restrictions On Reds Tightened

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Moving to discourage spying, the State Department Tuesday declared about 11 per cent of the United States closed to travel by diplomats from five Eastern European countries.

The department also revised its list of cities, counties and states which have been closed to travel by Russian citizens since 1955. As was the case with the old one, the revised list closed about 26 per cent of the country to the Russians.

Officials said the clampdown on Eastern Europeans affected diplomats from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania. But citizens of those nations are permitted unrestricted U.S. travel.

U.S. officials also revised the list of cities, counties and states where Russian citizens are forbidden to travel. The list is similar to travel restrictions imposed on Russians since 1955 but includes new locations. It keeps Soviet citizens from visiting 26 per cent of the nation.

The travel restrictions clampdown also represented a compromise victory for the Pentagon in an intra-administration

Cardinals Split On Power Issue

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Roman Catholic cardinals from the United States divided openly Tuesday on a proposal to give juridical powers to National Catholic Bishops Conferences.

But the majority of 180 American bishops at the Vatican Ecumenical Council appeared to be lined up in support of a limited move in that direction, intended to enable the national episcopal groupings to deal more closely with the Pope.

The majority view was outlined before the 2,300 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica by Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago.

Cardinal Meyer spoke in the name of 120 American bishops, putting two-thirds of the U.S. prelates at the council behind his view. He voiced support of juridical powers for episcopal conferences.

This put him in general agreement with Joseph Elmer Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis and in opposition to Cardinals James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles and Francis Spellman of New York.

Cambodia Renounces American Assistance

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—Neutralist Prince Norodom Sihanouk Tuesday renounced U.S. military and economic aid as of Jan. 1, 1964, and said French and American troops must leave his Southeast Asian kingdom.

There was no indication he would renounce the aid he has been receiving from the Soviet Union, Communist China and other Communist nations and he said he would call in five Red Chinese experts to help organize "state control."

U.S. Schedules Viet Nam War Strategy Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will conduct a top-level strategy conference in Honolulu Nov. 20 to map future plans for winning the war against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

American economic and military assistance to the new Vietnamese government, plus the expected return of 1,000 U.S. military advisers before the end of the year, are the most likely subjects for discussion.

The State and Defense departments, announcing the meeting Tuesday, said Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; Ambassador to Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge, and McGeorge Bundy, President Kennedy's special adviser on international security affairs, will attend.

Also present will be Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific; Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of the more than 16,000 U.S. military advisers in Viet Nam; David E. Bell, director of the U.S. Agency for International Development; Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs; Robert Manning, assistant secretary of state for public affairs and White House press secretary Pierre Salinger.

Cuba Plans Draft Of Men 17 to 45

MIAMI (UPI)—Maj. Raul Castro, head of Cuba's armed forces, said in Havana Tuesday night that all Cuban men between the ages of 17 and 45 face a call-up to military service under a new draft law about to be enacted.

Castro, Cuban vice premier and brother of Premier Fidel Castro, said Cuban women would not be immediately subject to military duty but that those between 17 and 35 years old who "volunteer to serve" would be accepted for two years duty.

He indicated the men would serve three-year terms. His speech was delivered over a nationwide television and radio hookup, monitored here.

Man, 70, Sails Raft To Samoa

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—William Willis, at an age when most men prefer a rocking chair, has ridden his raft through the storms of the South Pacific and landed in Samoa after four months at sea.

The New Yorker, 70, alone except for two family cats, landed his raft "Age Unlimited" on New Zealand's island of Upolu in Western Samoa on Monday night. He was bearded, fit and happy, said a dispatch received in Sydney.

Despite storms that damaged the rudder of his 32-foot raft, Willis was ahead of the schedule he set for himself when he left Peru and had covered more than two-thirds of the 12,000 miles to Australia, his goal.

So far as is known, he was sighted only once at sea since he set out July 4 from Callao, Peru, to ride the Pacific currents to Australia.

In New York, a happy Mrs. Willis said she had been sighted by her husband's raft Aug. 16 riding the waves somewhere between the Galapagos and Marquesa Islands, possibly three-fourths of the way to Samoa.

Clad in blue shorts, Willis waved at the freighter. He was flying his ensign right side up, a signal that everything was ok.

Mrs. Willis had watched a Peruvian tug pull him out from Callao into the Humboldt current that sweeps westward from the west coast of Latin America.

Abandoned Gems Taken By Workers

Getaway Auto's Manual Shift Too Much For Bandit

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's biggest jewel robbery, a $3 million haul tabbed by police last Friday as a "high class job" by professionals, turned out Tuesday to be a colossal dud.

The gang fled empty handed because the driver of the getaway car did not know how to handle a manual gear shift and a tricky choke.

Several wrecking crew workers who witnessed the holdup from a bird's-eye view four stories above the street in a half-demolished building, sauntered over to the stalled car when the driver fled, drove it behind a pile of rubble and held what police called a "grab bag" with the gems.

Hide Loot

The wreckers stashed the loot in the empty building, among the piles of rubble and took some home. One construction worker took diamonds and emeralds to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Police recovered most of the jewels and picked up at least 12 wrecking crew workers. However it was unlikely that they would ever recover all of the loot.

A high police source said that some of the diamonds had been sold on the streets and in saloons to local "smart operators." The source said that none of these diamonds were worth more than $300 each, and were sold for $10 or $20 each. The source said it was impossible to determine immediately how much of the loot had been sold this way.

Damon Runyon Story

Any jubilation police felt about the quick recovery of the major part of the jewels was tempered because a private detective played a key role in cracking the case.

The whole affair rapidly took on the characteristics of a Damon Runyon story.

The big break in the case came Monday night when one of the demolition men "got a snootful" in a Manhattan bar and began bragging to a friend how he and several fellow workers witnessed the big robbery and then got all the loot while the original bandits got nothing, police said.

Friend Calls Police

The friend called police. At about the same time, another demolition worker told private detective Anthony Negri that he had seen a man stash a briefcase in an empty boiler on the debris littered West Side Manhattan lot.

Negri and another private detective, James Hayden, found the briefcase. It contained gems. They also called police.

With these two separate stories, police early Tuesday converged on the demolition site with spades, shovels and long poles. While some searched the rubble, others questioned the demolition workers. At least six admitted they had taken the gems.

Kennedy Will Visit Canaveral Saturday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy will visit Cape Canaveral, Fla., Saturday, it was learned Tuesday night.

The President will interrupt a weekend at Palm Beach, Fla., to fly to the U.S. missile test center for an inspection tour, informed sources said.

Rocky-Barry Tilts Seen In At Least Three States

WASHINGTON (AP) — At York, announced his candidacy present, the only solid prospect last week and plunged into campaigns of combat between Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater in next year's election. Rockefeller's primary next March 10.

Goldwater, the Arizona senator, has been a leader in polls of Republican leaders and voters, but has maintained he won't announce a decision before January.

Navy Will Begin 'Vigilante' Tests

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — The Navy will begin flight tests Thursday of the RA-5C "Vigilante," a plane designed to fly from a carrier and which could be launched close to an enemy shore during wartime.

A spokesman at the Patuxent Naval Air Station said Tuesday that supersonic flights would be made above 40,000 feet so any resulting sonic boom cannot cause damage at ground level.

The high-altitude tests will be made within a 75-mile radius of the Patuxent River. The area is bounded by Baltimore on the north, Salisbury, Md., on the east, Richmond, Va., on the south and Washington, D.C., on the west. No flights will be made over those cities.

Tests flights also will be made as low as 100 feet, within a 35-mile radius, the spokesman said. Speed of the craft will range from 150 m.p.h. up to 670 m.p.h. — the speed of sound — and beyond.

Testing of the Vigilante is expected to end about Dec. 13.

McKeldin Sees Rocky As GOP Nominee In '64

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore who nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower for president in 1952, predicted Tuesday that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would win the Republican nomination next year.

McKeldin, twice governor of Maryland and generally recognized as the state's GOP leader, said he expects Rockefeller to overtake Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who has been leading in polls, and go on to win the nomination and election.

The mayor flew here with 45 other Maryland Republicans for a "look and listen" luncheon session with the governor, only announced candidate. They made the trip in two planes chartered by Rockefeller.

While withholding a formal endorsement, McKeldin said that "unless I find a better qualified man than Gov. Rockefeller, then I'm for Gov. Rockefeller. And I don't know of anyone better qualified at the moment."

Rockefeller and McKeldin appeared together at the governor's New York City office after the luncheon, held in an executive offices dining room in Radio City. Rockefeller said he had made no decision as to whether he would enter the Maryland primary next May.

The governor said he intends to enter the New Hampshire and California primaries, March 10 and June 22, and will consider entering other such contests "if I have the time for it."

McKeldin commented that such contests require more than the mere placing of one's name before the party voters and that a candidate has to consider at length whether he had sufficient time.

Asked whether he thought Rockefeller, who has declared himself an underdog in the prospective Republican race, would win the nomination, the mayor said: "Yes, I do." He also said he thought Rockefeller would win the election.

McKeldin said he does not agree with former President Eisenhower that the convention delegates might turn to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in event of a deadlock.

Dad Sentenced For Beating Son

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A father of six who disciplined an unruly 11-year-old son by whipping him with a belt was given a six-month jail term Tuesday in Alexandria Juvenile Court. The sentence was suspended.

"I was trying to do the right thing... I didn't really mean to overdo it," Moses Carl Gentry, 36, told Judge Irene L. Pancoast. The father, a sheet metal worker whose wife works in the evenings, was picked up by Alexandria police Monday night and charged with felonious assault after a neighbor reported hearing the child's screams. The charge was reduced to simple assault in court.

Police Cpl. C. T. Strobel testified that he went to the Gentry home and found the boy, James, with welts and bruises on his neck, back, buttocks, and arms. The father told Judge Pancoast he "corrected" the 11-year-old for cursing his sister, a teenager. Gentry said the boy had been swinging a two-year-old brother around by the collar and, when reprimanded by his sister, had sworn at her.

Court officials said the boy earlier was placed on Juvenile Court probation in connection with a series of juvenile offenses, and that he had been suspended from school for three days last month for impudence.

Three Of Family Die When Car Hits Rail

STATESBORO, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Inez Maude Clark, 56, of Glen Burnie, Md., her daughter and son-in-law were fatally injured when their car struck a bridge railing near here Tuesday.

Investigators said the car, traveling south on U.S. 301, edged off the right side of the highway several feet before reaching the bridge.

Killed in addition to Mrs. Clark were Mrs. Eleanor Clark Sherman, 37, and her husband, Vernon, 45. Their 18-month-old son was hospitalized in critical condition. Police said it appeared that Mrs. Sherman was driving the car since her body was nearest the steering wheel.

Honeymoon Trip Ends At Hospital

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — A thruway crash diverted the honeymoon trip of a Baltimore couple from Niagara Falls to Geneva General Hospital.

Raymond Zenone, 26, suffered two fractured legs, and his bride, Lois Evan Zenone, received a shoulder injury and bruises when their auto overturned Monday near the Geneva interchange.

Mrs. Zenone said a gust of wind caused their new auto to skid off the road.

The Zenones apparently have not established a residence. He gave his address as Box 105, Anne Arundel County, Md., and she as Baltimore.

Wipe Out Color Line, Maryland Baptists Urged

BALTIMORE (AP) — "There are many so-called Christians, many of whom are Baptists, who earnestly believe that the gospel of Jesus Christ has nothing to do with the world's problem of race," a minister said Tuesday.

"No wonder the non-Christian world scorns our attempts to bring Christ to them," said the Rev. Archie C. Prevatt, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Easton.

He delivered the annual sermon at the 128th session of the Baptist Convention of Maryland. The Rev. Mr. Prevatt expressed amazement "to find churches scrambling in great haste to find new techniques" to prevent Negroes from joining.

He said they were rewriting their constitutions and by-laws. In urging Baptists to accept anyone who professes faith in Jesus, the Rev. Mr. Prevatt said: "We Baptists can no longer depend upon conformity to regional cultural patterns for our growth in America."

"Our missionaries are pleading with us to set our homeland in order. Unless we do, they may be forced to return to America."

Maryland Briefs

GAMBRILLS, Md. (AP) — The Bon Fire Restaurant lived up to its name Tuesday as fire burned out its interior.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the kitchen. They estimated damage to the building on Maryland 3 would total several thousand dollars.

Volunteer firemen of Gambrills and Odenton fought the fire for more than two hours.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 12-by-12-foot gold colored rug was laid at the main entrance to Lexington Market Tuesday.

A rug firm and a shampoo company are contending the rug will come clean after two million footprints have been put on the rug.

After all, the footprints are on the rug, it will be cleaned with a home type shampoo.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund is losing more than $1 million a month, says an official, because 1,200 to 1,800 drivers a month misuse time-payment automobile insurance.

John H. Calhoun, manager of the fund, said these motorists obtain a liability policy with a $20 down payment then make no further payments after getting their license plates.

"They let their insurance be canceled," he said, "and have no intention of buying new insurance or of paying the $70 fee required of uninsured motorists."

Hoffa Rebuffed By Court In Bid To Block Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused Tuesday to block the jury tampering trial of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, or to hear arguments on transferring the trial from Nashville, Tenn.

In other decisions focused on labor union activities or officials the court also:

Turned down an appeal from a contempt of Congress conviction of Maurice A. Hutcheson, 65, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters. He drew a six-month sentence and $500 fine for refusing to answer questions during a Senate investigation of Indiana's highway scandals in 1957.

Refused to get involved in the explosive jurisdictional dispute between Canadian and U.S. unions on the Upper Great Lakes.

But the court did grant a hearing to Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison of New Orleans, La., who was convicted of defaming eight New Orleans judges in connection with his investigation of vice in the city's famed French Quarter.

Garrison's dispute with the judges was touched off when they froze funds he said he needed for the investigation. In remarks to newsmen, Garrison said the judges' action raised "interesting questions about racketeer influences."

That brought the charge against him. After trial by Special Judge William Ponder of Many, La., Garrison was fined $1,000. The Louisiana Supreme Court upheld the sentence.

U. Md. Branch Site Approved

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State Board of Public Works approved Tuesday transfer of 432 acres of land in Baltimore County for a new branch of the University of Maryland.

The action clears the way for work on a four-year undergraduate college and graduate division to serve the metropolitan Baltimore area.

The land, selected by the board of regents, lies near the Baltimore Beltway. It is owned by the state.

The board did not consider a request by Baltimore City Mayor Theodore McKeldin to delay action on the university site until he could appear before the board.

McKeldin has sought to have the new branch built in Baltimore City.

Albin G. Kuhl, executive vice president of the University of Maryland, asked the board to approve the regent's request. He said the Baltimore County site was chosen because it is easily reached from throughout the metropolitan area, is of adequate size and can be acquired at a savings to the people of Maryland since it is owned by the state.

As part of the agreement, the university will deed to the state 100 acres of land in Montgomery County for possible use as a hospital for retarded children. The tract is part of more than 500 acres about seven miles from College Park being used for agricultural experimental work by the university.

SOUVENIRS TO ALL.

We Bid You Welcome!

Your kind patronage, for which we extend our thanks, has made this big building a necessity. We shall strive to make it your favorite trading place. To attain that end we shall spare no effort.

The sole thought, the all pervading idea, in construction and in arrangement has been your greater convenience.

To better attain this end we have fitted a cosy reception room; comfortable chairs, pen, ink and paper are to be found here always. Use it as you wish—as a resting or as a meeting place—it's yours solely.

POLICY.

We take this opportunity to outline the store policy.—The basis of principle of this business, the secret of our success, we believe, has been the constant and ceaseless endeavor to sell the best, and only the best, at the lowest possible prices.

This combination of many businesses under one roof means minimum expense. The less the expense, the less necessary profit.

Our outlet (wholesale and retail) makes large buying a necessity. Quantity buying invariably lowers cost. All these advantages are yours here.

STOCKS.

In point of assortments you'll find the stocks here gathered matchless in variety and in extent.

It shall be our aim to show the latest dictates of fashion. And show them as soon as they appear.

TO YOU

Every sale must be absolutely satisfactory. This we desire. Whatever is not, we want to make so. It's solely your fault if this is not the case. We are always ready always glad to right wrongs.

We require absolute courtesy from all our employees. You'll greatly help the store system by reporting at the first any neglect or inattention.

Advertising.

No overstatements will be permitted. You may take our announcements as they are for what they are intended to be—plain, unvarnished store news. There'll be no stretching of an ad-writer's vivid imagination in our statements.

There are more people making shirt waists, than there are SHIRT WAIST MAKERS. The difference in value between a pound of Steel and a pound of watch springs is the magic of Clever Labor. The "Governor's Citation," first given in the region, was for "outstanding service, promotion of ideals, sincerity of friendship, joy of achievement, dignity of service, integrity of profession and love of country." Mrs. Doak is immediate past president of the Cumberland Soroptimist Club.

Reading Workshop Scheduled

Besides the open house yesterday in observance of American Education Week, St. Mary's School is having a reading workshop. Sister Ruth Ann, principal, reports. It is scheduled for 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. tomorrow and Friday, and 10 a. m. until noon Saturday. It is for all parochial school teachers in Western Maryland. This is the first time such a workshop has been held for parochial teachers, Sister Ruth Ann said.

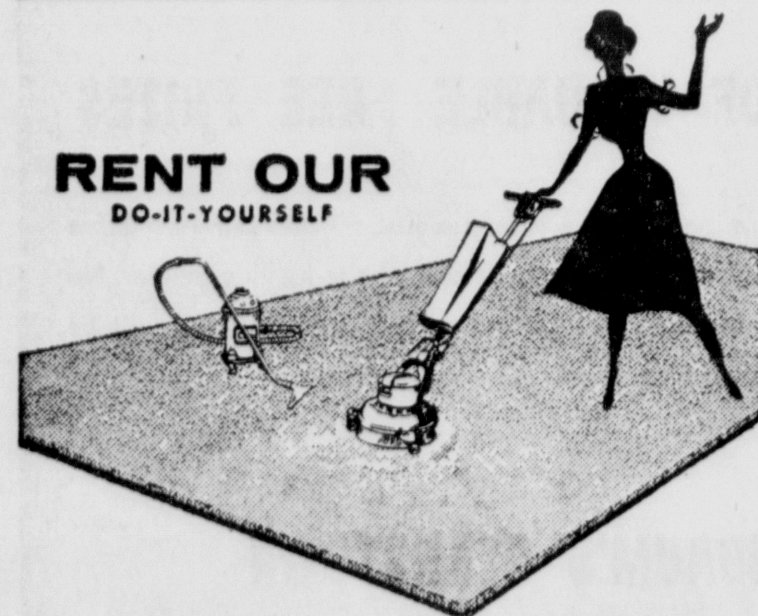

It will be conducted by Joseph P. Gutkoska, who is a supervisor of reading from Baltimore. The purpose of the workshop is to give a "shot in the arm" to the techniques and skills in the teaching of reading.

The open house was held to give the parents of the pupils an opportunity to see teaching in action. Debates and discussions were held on such topics as "Should the Voting Age Be Lowered?" and "Should Women Be Permitted to Attend the Vatican Council?"

Historical Society To Meet Nov. 21

The special meeting of the Allegany County Historical Society will be held November 21 instead of tomorrow. The charter is to be amended and a report of the house committee will be given.

Organizing Of New Clubs

The growth of Soroptimist clubs was sketched by Mrs. Blanche T. Rogers, governor of the South Atlantic Region, at the 12th anniversary dinner and "Charter Night" program of the Cumberland Soroptimists Saturday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. She traced the growth from its organization in 1921 by 83 women in Oakland, Calif., until now there are clubs in every state of the Union, and in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America.

Mrs. Rogers has 19 Soroptimist clubs and four Venture clubs to her credit and expects to organize a Venture club in Cumberland and a Soroptimist club in Frostburg early in 1964.

Mrs. Georgetta Gilford extended greetings. Mrs. Josephine Beynon was mistress of ceremonies. Guests were introduced by Mrs. Agnes Hersh and Mrs. Alice DeHaven. Rev. William Frank gave the invocation and closing prayer. Entertainment consisted of several selections by the Four Tunetwisters.

Identifying themselves with their classifications, members introduced themselves and their guests. Mrs. Rogers reported that she holds the only classification of tugboat towing in the United States and there is only one other in the world, which is in Denmark.

Gold and blue, the Soroptimist colors, were carried out in the programs, favors of ceramic ring boxes and the candles and flowers centering the tables, which were decorated with ceramic gourd.

Special guests were Dr. Robert Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College; Warren White, scholarship winner; Mrs. Lucile Roeder, Rev. and Mrs. Frank; Mrs. Glenn Davis, and honorary members Dr. Lillian C. Compton and Miss Mary G. Walsh. Other guests were Mrs. Marie Kitzmiller, Mrs. Stella Carey, Mrs. Laura Kelly and Mrs. Roberta Johnson of the Tri-Town Soroptimist Club and Mrs. Lucy Klavuhn.

Members and their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Crites, Mr. and Mrs. Amos DeHaven, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beynon, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles See, Miss Jeanette Bonig, Robert Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Doak, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gilford, Mrs. Blanch Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marker, Mrs. Myrtle Lafferty, Mrs. Beverly Meyers, Mrs. Martha Wilson and Mrs. Agnes Hersh.

be submitted to the state in January. The winner will be announced in February.

Tuesday Miss Margaret Smith will give the invocation. Miss Margaret King and Mrs. Masara are chairmen for the program. Mrs. Eva Hogan has called a meeting of the ways and means committee for 5:30 p. m. today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

BPW To Have America Art Program

In observance of "Know Your America Week," the Cumberland Business and Professional Women will have an exhibit of paintings by Mrs. Cecile F. Erickson, who will lecture on her American scenes. It will be at the dinner meeting Tuesday at 5:45 p. m. at the YMCA. She will be introduced by Mrs. Freida Massara.

The statewide visit to the United Nations and May fashion show by Martin's, will be discussed.

Mrs. Massara has appointed Mrs. Ellen Carroll chairman of the local "Woman of the Year" committee. The nominee will

Teen-Age-Take-Off To A Modelling Career

The natural beauty of the very young often inspires the idea that a modelling career is just around the corner. Sometimes it is, but few of the young hopefuls who come to us have a notion of what they must offer besides a slender, well-proportioned figure and a lovely face. They'd give anything for the chance to model, they say, but what we must tell them isn't only what they must have to give, but what they must give up.

Ravenous appetites in the teens may not bring on overweight. But what it does bring on is poor weight distribution which threatens worse to come—the bit of extra fat over the abdomen, legs too cushiony soft above the knees and too pronounced curves at hip tops or at the upper thigh line. Even so, eating heartily at their age isn't as much at fault as eating the wrong things at the wrong time. Miss Prospective Model must give up weird concoctions to satisfy her sweet tooth and snacking too often between meals. She must learn to eat correctly to help get rid of the last of her baby fat and to promise that hers is a figure which will surely grow lovelier.

Then she must give up being chauffeured everywhere and strike out on her own two feet whenever she can. The shape of her legs and ankles in the future will depend a lot on what she does with them now. And she must give fifteen minutes to a half hour of every day to limbering up exercises. Many young girls are surprisingly inflexible through the torso. Their natural bustling activity doesn't give them the willowy grace every model must have to be a success in poses for photographs or on the fashion show runway.

Of course there is very much more to even the start of modelling, but if visions of such a career dance in your head, you can and should take these first steps alone.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I have a word with "Glad I Am Single," the woman who wrote the following lines: "If you can show me a man—single or married, well, sick or dying who isn't interested in sex I will eat the Sunday edition of this newspaper."

Well, honey, you can start nibbling. I'm married to such a man and so is my sister.

Of course these sterling characters will not go to a doctor to find out what is wrong. A cousin who is a physician once told me that 9 out of 10 men who have no interest in sex are not physically ill. Their problem is psychological. Is this right?

DEAR OUT: Yes. The possibility of an organic problem should first be checked out by a physician. If there is no physical disability, the guy should go to a head doctor and get that hornet out of his helmet.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the mother who was indignant because the school would not allow her precocious child to enter kindergarten brought back some painful memories. I was the same kind of a fool.

Our daughter was precocious, too. I went to the school principal and pressured him into admitting Jessica although she was only four years and two months old at the time. Jessica could read, print and recite pages of poetry from memory.

From the first day at school Jessica had trouble adjusting to the other children. She was the smallest one in her class and also the shyest.

After two years of problems, the principal summoned me to his office and said he was going to ask Jessica to repeat the first grade. By then I was ready to admit I had made a mistake.

Jessica is in the fourth grade now and doing extremely well. We are fortunate that her poor start, which was the product of my vanity, did not wreck her completely. Print this if you think it may help others.

—ALL'S WELL.
DEAR ALL'S WELL: You are indeed fortunate. Some mothers who wrote did not fare so well.

Several women wrote to say their children had been allowed to skip grades and the results were equally disastrous. Their youngsters found themselves associated with classmates two and three years older and ten-

St. Paul's Elects Two Officers

During the business meeting of the Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church, chairmen's reports were given and it was announced that another sewing project will be held at Mrs. Elizabeth Nave's home on November 21. Gifts for the Lutheran Home for the Aged will be brought to the December meeting. Mrs. Lee Fresh announced that articles made in the Hong Kong mission are on sale and displayed at St. Paul's.

The group decided to start saving trading stamps in order to obtain a silver service for the church. Plans were discussed for a mother-daughter banquet, possibly in February. Mrs. Albert Tomsko and Mrs. Emma Miller were introduced as visitors.

Mrs. Agnes Yount was elected vice president, and Miss Betty Hammond, treasurer.

The group agreed to leaving the meeting unchanged for another year, so as not to conflict with other activities.

A paper requesting the signatures of those present, concerning voluntary prayer and Bible reading in the public schools was circulated.

Preceding the business session a program, "One Gift," was presented by Mrs. Alice Apsey. Offerings were placed on a mirror, symbolizing its effective ripples. The donations are used to build churches, for world missions, training children and people of special need.

Those taking part in the presentation were Mrs. Louanna Milleson, Mrs. Louise Beck,

Mrs. Lee Fresh, Mrs. Leo Carroll, Mrs. Nellie Hilton, Mrs. A. L. Action Asked On Appeal Involving Radio Towers

William L. Wilson, attorney for Wes-Mar Communications Company, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to ask if the procedures in having a hearing before the Board of Zoning Appeals could be speeded up in connection with a case involving his client.

Wilson said that Wes-Mar has been engaged for the erection of two radio towers on Haystack Mountain which will be used by the city of Cumberland. Civil Defense organization, sheriff's department, and volunteer fire units in operation of their two-way radio systems.

The Sunset View Real Estate and Development Company filed a petition in Circuit Court and this was heard last month and remanded back to the Board of Zoning Appeals for a hearing.

The commissioners said that as soon as they receive Ralph G. Cover's resignation they will appoint a successor so that the hearing can be held. Mr. Wilson said the case could then be disposed of in Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris. A restraining order remains in force.

Pact Signed For Addition To Memorial

The board of governors of Memorial Hospital has signed a formal contract with Carl O. Belt Inc., of Cumberland, for the construction of the hospital's new addition.

John A. Moberly, hospital director, said the construction contract amounts to $1,999,506.63. The local firm was low bidder by a mere $143.

The hospital director said that on September 16 the board of governors opened bids on the project and found that the bids exceeded the budget estimate.

At this point the board entered into negotiations with the Belt firm, the low bidder, to reduce the base contract bid. Following discussions between the board, the architects and Mr. Belt, deductions in the base bid in the amount of $97,350.37 were agreed upon, thus making the contract price $1,999,506.63.

The original bids were: Carl Belt Inc., $2,096,857; Martin Nettrout Contracting of Pittsburgh, $2,097,000; George Construction Company of Cumberland, $2,110,000; R. S. Noonan Inc., of Lancaster, Pa., $2,160,000, and Ragnar-Benson Inc., of Pittsburgh, $2,185,000.

Moberly pointed out that of the total amount of the contract the hospital will receive $625,000 from the Hill-Burton Federal Funds; $527,500 from Accelerated Public Works Federal Funds; $500,000 from the City of Cumberland and $500,000 from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and the hospital will put into the project, out of its reserve funds, a total of $192,500.

The Maryland State Department of Health and Accelerated Public Works officials have formally approved the construction contract and the overall project cost and have notified the hospital that "The project construction application for the project and all documents pertaining thereto have been approved for an Accelerated Public Works grant in the amount of $527,500 and for a Hill-Burton grant in the amount of $625,000."

The contract also calls for the project to be completed within 400 calendar days.

Moberly said the local contractor has taken advantage of the "Indian Summer" which the area has been experiencing and as a result has virtually completed the excavation of the new wing to be added to the hospital facilities.

Every second, the sun sends out a million times more energy than is stored in all the earth's coal, petroleum and natural gas fields.

Split Vote Delays Mission Ordinance

In an emotion-packed session which saw one of the largest crowds ever to attend a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council, strong opposition was expressed yesterday to an ordinance which would, in effect, ban the Union Rescue Mission from Cumberland.

The ordinance, titled "Unlawful Establishment" was prepared last week as the result of opposition to setting up the Union Rescue Mission on Virginia Avenue. Businessmen and others had expressed their desire that the mission be located in another spot. A 3-2 vote on the proposed ordinance yesterday automatically delayed it for one week.

The ordinance introduced yesterday followed council's action last week in which it denied issuance of an occupancy permit for the Mission's location in the New Theatre on Virginia Avenue. However, Rev. Cecil Taylor, who would direct the mission here, pointed out yesterday that the permit was denied even before it was applied for and that no contact had been made for the location with the city.

The ordinance as introduced yesterday would prohibit the establishment of any place at which would congregate persons of ill fame, paupers, inebriates, drug addicts or those without visible means of support.

When a vote was called for, Mayor Earl D. Chaney and Commissioner Lucile Roeder voted "No" which automatically delays final action one week.

The crowd at the meeting overflowed the council chamber into the hallway.

Speaking in opposition to the ordinance and in favor of the establishment of the rescue mission were Rev. Everett Culp, pastor of First Methodist Church; Rev. Stanley G. Harrell, pastor of Central Methodist Church; Mrs. Catherine O'Neal of Grand Avenue; Mrs. Ricardo Barbero of 1007 Kent Avenue; Rev. Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor; Rev. George Hazen, pastor of Zion Reformed Church; Robert E. Pence, one of the organizers of the local rescue mission movement; Rev. William J. Cox, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church; and Rev. Robert Moales, pastor of Grace Methodist Church. Also present was Albert Macy, president of the Rescue Mission Group.

Dr. G. Overton Himmelwright, who said he had been designated as spokesman for the South End group which appeared to oppose the mission location last week, asserted that their feeling had been expressed one week ago and that they had "nothing further to say."

Most speakers seemed to feel that opposition stemmed from a location for the Rescue Mission and Rev. Mr. Taylor announced that another location had been found which it was thought would prove to be suitable for all and circumvent any objections. The property in mind is the old Hammersmith Restaurant site on Queen City Pavement. Rev. Taylor said. The site has three stories and 18 rooms and it is believed that arrangements can be made to obtain the property, he added.

Speakers cited misunderstandings over the work which a Rescue Mission does and several said that the "Rescue Mission is of God."

Others questioned whether favorable action on the proposed ordinance would eventually lead to the exclusion of the Salvation Army from Cumberland.

Several of those speaking against the ordinance and in favor of a rescue mission here cited personal experiences as members of the mission in other cities or from visits to such missions. Rehabilitation work performed by the agency was emphasized and speakers also defended the need for a Rescue Mission in Cumberland.

Rev. Mr. Cox said he did not believe the mission belonged in South Cumberland and that at the beginning there had been a mistaken impression that all men who needed help of the mission were found there.

However, for the Mayor and Council to take steps to outlaw such places from the city is "illegal and stupid," he added. He said he had checked Hagerstown and Baltimore and rescue missions there are doing a commendable job. Further, he said he had been told "They have taken bums off our streets."

In referring to Commissioner G. Ray Light's statement of a week ago in which he questioned the need for such a mission, Rev. Mr. Cox said he would send all the panhandlers that come to him to Mr. Light. Then, turning to the audience, he urged them to do the same.

Commissioner Frederick J. Hill, who admitted he was "mad," took exception to Rev. Mr. Cox's remarks in which Hill said, it was insinuated that he and the others who voted for the ordinance were "stupid."

Mr. Cox said he had stated that "the action was stupid and I did not say you were."

Commissioner William V. Keegan said he is not in favor of taking prayer out of schools, not against any color or creed, but he was for what South Cumberland wanted. He also said he had had no knowledge that the rescue mission had the support of a group of 75 ministers.

Light questioned Rev. Mr. Taylor concerning the proposed new location of the mission and was told that plus the fact that "a rescue mission is the cleanest place in any city," it also deals in boys' and girls' work and "I don't have to defend the rescue mission, for it will stand."

Rev. Mr. Moales pointed out that he did not feel "South End has raised up against the rescue mission" and expressed the opinion most people there would support it.

Ralph Frantz, a church layman, also spoke in favor of the mission.

Mrs. Roeder said she appreciated being informed and that "it is worth having our head on the block to see this many people coming out to express an opinion and stand up for their convictions."

Mayor Chaney said he had received many calls "from halfway around the country" in support of the mission and said council will reconsider its previous action. He said he had had calls from the mayor of Mobile, Ala., and from Hagerstown. A telegram from C. Neill Baylor of the Hagerstown Herald-Mail newspaper supporting the mission was read. Other letters and telegrams were too numerous to read into the record, the mayor added.

$4 Million McKaig Estate Bond Posted

The Pittsburgh National Bank qualified as executor of the estate of W. Wallace McKaig yesterday and posted a $4 million bond in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Court attaches said the bond may be the largest ever posted in the history of Allegany County.

The approximate value of the estate as set in the petition for letters testamentary is $3,750,000.

The bank is now proceeding with the administration of the estate.

The approximate valuation of the estate is $850,000, real estate; $1,100,000 in securities; $1,500,000 in cash and $25,000 in household articles, such as paintings, manuscripts and portraits, and $108,000 in mortgages.

Mr. McKaig, 81-year-old Cumberland industrialist, died Friday, October 25, and made the sole immediate beneficiary of his estate Mrs. Lelia Campbell Gould, his housekeeper. However, upon her death, the will established a fund for the college education of persons residing in this area.

The will states that upon the death of Mrs. Gould, who was employed by Mr. McKaig for approximately 13 years, all his books and manuscripts, as well as his paintings, will go to the Cumberland Library.

The will, which was filed for probate on October 31, bequeathed, absolutely, to Mrs. Gould all of his jewelry, automobiles, clothing and other purely personal effects, as well as such household goods and equipment which he owned.

The rest of the estate was placed in trust with the Pittsburgh National Bank for the use and benefit of Mrs. Gould and the bank is to pay to her, for benefit, the net income therefrom in quarter-annual installments during her lifetime.

Upon the death of Mrs. Gould the will stipulates that the principal of the trust estate shall be

Italy Teeters On The Brink

Konrad Adenauer is gone, Macmillan is out of office, Constantine Caramanlis has lost power in Greece, Norway's government is in turbulence. But none of these changes in government are particular cause for concern in the free world.

But there is reason to worry about Italy. Premier Giovanni Leone's transition government has resigned, ending the pause that began when elections shuffled Italy's political makeup more than four months ago. Now Italy must find a new and lasting government.

The task may fall to Aldo Moro of the Christian Democratic Party. The party does not have strength enough to rule alone. Moro must form a coalition. And to be successful, it has little choice but to include, among others, Pietro Nenni's leftwing Socialist Party.

This can create problems for the rest of western Europe and for the United States. The leftwing socialists have long been allies of the Communist Party. Also, they are avowedly neutralist. If he agrees to participate in a coalition, Nenni may insist on a voice in government for the Communists, who picked up a fourth of the vote in the recent election.

Thus one cannot help but wonder what is ahead for NATO, in which Italy plays a role. Or for the European Common Market, in which Italy is an important member.

These Days

Formula For Republicans

The post-mortems on the off-year elections are now on record, and if President Kennedy wasn't running scared before, he will be doing just that from here on in. He will have to placate the disaffected ex-Governor Robert Meyner Democrats in New Jersey to get back on the track in one important eastern state. He will have to worry about the effect of civil rights agitation in the Philadelphia ward and in Kentucky. He can, however, take heart from Democratic successes in upstate New York and in Connecticut.

The Connecticut vote, however, may be interpreted in a way that is favorable to the Republicans provided a single observation is made: they have work to do. When John Bailey, the head of the Democratic national organization, says that the off-year vote in big Connecticut cities proves that the state is a solid "in" for Kennedy, he is merely following the arithmetic. But the success of the lively, free-wheeling Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee in affecting the vote in Hartford and Bridgeport, the two cities to which it directed its attention, offers the Republicans a formula which, if it is conscientiously followed, might cross up the predictions of John Bailey in 1964.

What happened in Hartford is that local Republicans finally got around to throwing the old book away. The Republican town chairman, Patrick DePasquale, failed to put together a full slate for the nine-member city council, which is nominally chosen on a non-partisan basis. Deputy Registrar Howard Kaufman sprang into action just eight weeks before the election by forming something called the "new GOP." This group chose a number of candidates to run along with Miss Betty Knox, the only "old GOP" member of the council.

After the primaries had been run off, and the list had been trimmed to the eighteen candidates who, by law, are permitted to go on the final ballot, the Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee brought its new apparatus, modeled on the CIO's old COPE, to bear on the situation. Fifty volunteer workers, many of them recruited from small towns outside of Hartford such as Glastonbury, Simsbury, South Windsor, Farmington, and West Granby, put in nearly five hundred hours of precinct work for the "new GOP slate" and the old GOP candidates too. The fact that many of the volunteers had no vote in Hartford did not dampen anybody's enthusiasm.

By thus "breaking the Berlin Wall" that has traditionally separated the suburbs from the city insofar as recruiting manpower is concerned, the Republicans elected three men to the nine-man Hartford Council. This constitutes the best local showing made by the Hartford Republicans since 1945.

In Bridgeport, where Democratic Mayor Samuel Tedesco won a fourth term by a greatly reduced plurality, the new Republican Citizens Committee put on a test campaign in a single precinct in a normally Democratic district. Sending its out of town manpower into this precinct, the Citizens Committee discovered that the Republicans had seldom bothered in bygone years to help people get to the polls, or explain registration procedures to 21-year-olds, or tell a perplexed individual how to get an absentee ballot. By pouring on the enthusiasm and the hard work and providing money to facilitate the effort, the Citizens Committee enabled the Republicans to take the precinct by a plurality of eighty-one. In 1961 the Democratic plurality had been 463.

Where the new Citizens Committee did not lend a hand the Republicans in Connecticut generally fared badly. They lost in the big cities of New Haven, Meriden, and Waterbury. The help the Citizens Committee gave to the Republican candidate for Mayor in New Haven was limited to making a pre-election survey. In Meriden, the Republican incumbent, Mayor Houston, had originally opposed the formation of the Citizens Committee on the ground that John Lupton, its organizer, was a Goldwater man. Mayor Houston did not ask for help, and he lost.

The moral of all this would seem to be: work pays off, whether it is done by Goldwater men or not.

'Put Your Dough On Me An' Win A Bundle'

Administration Should Explain Otepka Firing

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Senator Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, Democrat, has achieved a reputation for independent thinking. When he says that the Department of State, in dismissing its director of security, used methods that are highly questionable, the country naturally becomes interested, especially since Mr. Dodd himself at one time served in the Federal Bureau of Investigation under J. Edgar Hoover.

The Connecticut Senator told the Senate on Tuesday, November 5, that a "serious challenge to responsible government" occurred when Otto Otepka was dismissed by the State Department simply because he had "testified honestly before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security on matters relating to security in the Department of State." He quoted the existing statutes which say that "the right of persons employed in the Civil Service of the United States, either individually or collectively, to petition Congress, or any member thereof, or to furnish information to either House of Congress or to any committee or member thereof, shall not be denied or interfered with."

Senator Dodd declared that, by its action in the Otepka case, the State Department "has, in effect, nullified this statute" and has issued a warning "to all employees that cooperation with the established committees of the Senate, if this cooperation involves testimony considered unpalatable at higher echelon, is a crime punishable by dismissal."

Then came a sensational development. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee released on November 9 letters filed by three State Department officials asking that the record of their testimony be amended and conceding that an eavesdropping device had been placed on the telephone wire in Mr. Otepka's office. Senator R. L. Hruska, Republican of Nebraska, thereupon demanded that the State Department consider dismissing the three men who, he said, had misled the Senate. Immediately after Mr. Hruska's statement, two of the same three men—who have been the principal accusers of Mr. Otepka—were placed on "administrative leave" for the time being by the State Department.

Senator Dodd, in his initial speech, pointed out that the significance of the Otepka case "cannot be overstated" and added:

"Mr. Otepka was the last old-line security officer holding a top position in the Office of Security. He has been an employee of the United States government for 27 years. He has served as deputy director of the Office of Security and officer in charge of evaluations. His efficiency ratings have always been 'excellent.' In 1953 he received the meritorious service award from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. But suddenly, for some strange reason, certain people in the Department decided that Mr. Otepka had to go."

"And so, they began first, to restrict his functions. Then they installed a tap on his telephone."

Although a State Department official has denied under oath that this was done, the Subcommittee on Internal Security has proof that the tap was installed. Then they began to monitor Mr. Otepka's burn basket. Then they locked him out of his office and denied him access to his files, although no charge had yet been brought against him.

"No one suspected of espionage or disloyalty has to my knowledge been subjected to such surveillance and humiliation. But Mr. Otepka was not suspected of disloyalty or espionage. He was suspected very simply of cooperating with the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security and of providing information that some of his superiors found embarrassing or objectionable."

In many respects this is more important than the alleged scandals that are being investigated on Capitol Hill in domestic affairs, for the whole question of giving security clearance to in-

WASHINGTON — There was a lot more to the last hectic efforts of Madame Nhu to keep her family in control in South Viet Nam than the public knew about.

At the very last moment she had a warning that the Viet Nam Special Forces, long paid by Central Intelligence, but recently cut off, were likely to turn against her strongman husband and President Diem, her brother-in-law. She rushed from San Francisco back to Los Angeles and phoned Saigon. She got through to the palace, but no one answered the phone. The revolt had just started.

Earlier than this, and before Mme. Nhu left for the United States, she had flatly refused to make any of the concessions urged by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Kennedy had persuaded Lodge, a Republican and a Protestant, to take the most difficult of all diplomatic assignments and straighten out Viet Nam. Too many Americans were being killed; too much money was being spent; too many Buddhists were being persecuted by the Catholic Vietnamese government.

Lodge had demanded drastic reforms — freedom of religion, freedom of the press, free speech, and more economic aid for the masses of the people instead of the reigning aristocracy. Without this, he argued, there could be no defeat of Communism. U. S. troops would have to remain in Viet Nam indefinitely.

dividuals employed in the Department of State now has been raised in a sensational manner. Senator Dodd concluded:

"If the dismissal of Mr. Otepka is permitted to stand, it will become impossible or exceedingly difficult to elicit any information from employees of the Executive Branch that bears on disloyalty, malfeasance, conflict of interest, or other wrongdoing by their superiors."

The Department of State has not made public its detailed reasons for the dismissal of Mr. Otepka, nor has it given a satisfactory explanation to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. But wherever the question of security arises, Congress is naturally on the alert. For there have been too many instances in which employees in the Executive Branch of the government have been given security clearance and later turned out to be indiscreet in passing out to friends and acquaintances information which eventually reached the Communists.

In a vast organization of employees such as the federal government maintains today, it is natural that there should be instances of questionable security. But the system which the Department of State has for years maintained is one that has created in Congress confidence in its procedures. The Otepka case has shaken that confidence. And the fact that the current fight for better security is being led by a Northern Democrat, who himself is an expert in security matters, is accepted by other Senators as an indication that the problem is being handled by the Senate in a wholly non-partisan way.

The administration has the responsibility of answering to the Senate and to the public just why the methods complained of by Senator Dodd were used to remove a competent official from the delicate and difficult post of handling security matters in the Department of State.

First Aid Treatment For Epileptic Seizures

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

had epilepsy, an attitude prevalent a generation ago, when the disease carried a stigma. Parents went to great lengths to keep the secret in the family. Times have changed. Epilepsy is common and the majority of victims can be helped with modern treatment. The condition is better understood, the sense of shame is gone, and more and more epileptics are living a normal life.

A major epileptic seizure lasts only a few minutes but the individual is so helpless, he needs aid. A few simple procedures will take him safely through the attack. Ease him to the floor at the first sign of a convulsion. It is almost impossible to hold him upright, as the small-town mother learned. He is unconscious and thrashes about in a wild and unpredictable way.

The clothing should be loosened and gentle restraint used to prevent the epileptic from striking objects as the head, arms, and legs are tossed from side to side. Pull the subject away from hot radiators or dangerous machinery. Turn his head to one side so saliva can flow out of the mouth.

Bystanders were advised, in the past, to open the sufferer's mouth and insert a gag to keep him from biting his tongue. This procedure no longer is recommended because too many helpers were bitten and too many epileptics lost one or more teeth when the gag was inserted forcefully.

Following the seizure, the individual relaxes and should be allowed to rest or sleep for a while. If he seems groggy, accompany him home. Be sure to notify the parents if a child has a convulsion because changes in treatment may be needed.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on epilepsy if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

When Louis B. Mayer was monarch of all that he surveyed at MGM, he autocratically demanded that all dinner guests at his home check in by eight P.M. sharp, though he himself often wasn't ready at that time. One evening when playwright S. N. Behrman arrived at 7:55, in fact, Mr. Mayer didn't come downstairs until 8:30. Behrman sarcastically murmured, "I'm sorry I was on time." Mayer, blissfully unaware of the sarcasm, graciously conceded, "That's quite all right!"

Once upon a time big tycoons and corporation presidents avoided the limelight more than a movie star with chickenpox. John D. Rockefeller Jr. unconsciously summed up the attitude of the clan when a caller, noting his modest office surroundings, remonstrated, "How can you hope to impress people in an office like

Mme. Nhu Brought On Viet Nam's Revolt Through Her Intransigence

By Drew Pearson

President Diem and his brother were willing to go along, but Mme. Nhu said no. She put her dainty foot down so vigorously that the male members of the triumvirate gave in.

After that, the United States pulled the plug on the $250,000 quarterly installments to the special forces — which had been raiding Buddhist pagodas — cut off money to Nhu's secret police and scrimped the $2,000,000 monthly import of surplus U. S. food.

This meant that the downfall of the Diem regime was only a matter of time.

Lonely Lady

A lot of people are now feeling sorry for Madame Nhu, lonely, mourning and reported broke in California. Unquestionably she put up a gallant fight. She had come to the United States to reverse, single-handed, the weight of the Kennedy financial boycott of her family's government. It was her hope by rousing public opinion, and through her good friend, Cardinal Spellman, chief patron of Saigon, to force the Kennedy administration to change its mind.

In some respects she was the Madame Chiang Kai-shek of Southeast Asia. Mme. Chiang, also with a strong religious background (a Methodist), came to the United States in the postwar years to win support for her husband and Nationalist China. The two strong-willed women both refused to let their husbands yield to the changing times of their country. Had Chiang Kai-shek initiated some of the social reforms in China that he has since adopted in Formosa, he would still be governing the Chinese mainland. And had Mme. Nhu permitted freedom of religion, the press, and used some of the U. S. aid millions for the benefit of the Vietnamese people, her husband and brother-in-law would be alive today and she would not be living lonely in Los Angeles.

Verbal Incoherence

When Sen. Tom Dodd, the witch-hunting Democrat from Connecticut, delivered his rambling diatribe against both Republican and

Democratic Senate leaders the other day, GOP leader Everett

Dirksen of Illinois remarked: "Quite a number of things can induce verbal incoherence."

Dodd's repetitious harangue was that the Senate must get down to work. "I am willing to have the Senate sit longer hours... let us sit Saturdays. Let us sit nights... let us stop the Wall Street attitude of 9 to 12 or 4 to 5 or 6. We are not doing the people's business. We are being frivolous with the people's business... I see the Senator from Wisconsin (Proxmire) at my left hand. I consider him to be one of the ablest men in the Senate. I say this with full knowledge of what I am saying."

One reason Sen. Dirksen—and some others—didn't think Dodd really knew what he was saying was that the rambling Senator from Connecticut has one of the worst absentee records in Congress. He rivals Adam Clayton Powell.

On the important Space Committee of which he is a member, Dodd has attended two meetings this year—one when Astronaut John Glenn was testifying and pictures were being taken, the other when some matters came up affecting Connecticut.

Dodd is also a member of the blue-ribbon Foreign Relations Committee, a coveted position wangled for him ahead of senior senators by Vice President Johnson because Dodd had backed LBJ for President.

The record shows that of the nine Foreign Relations Committee hearings on foreign aid, Dodd was not present once; of the 11 hearings on the test ban treaty, Dodd was present twice—when Dr. Edward Teller was testifying. Of six hearings on foreign agents, Dodd was not present once. And of nine other meetings of the Foreign Relations Committee, Dodd was present only once—when the Freedom Academy was under discussion.

This is the man who entreated his colleagues: "Let us sit Saturdays. Let us sit nights." And this is why Sen. Dirksen referred to the "verbal incoherence" of the Senator from Connecticut.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

When the President was inaugurated, he uttered a memorable phrase: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." There is a man named Ward Byron, producer of the Night Editor Show, who has been thinking about those words. He's been thinking a long time, and he wonders if it isn't equally true that someone should do something for the President.

"I can't recall how many visits the President has made to New York," Byron writes, "but I have no trouble recalling that I have sat back and done nothing. Here I am in Douglass, in a home with a fenced-in-back yard, just perfect for the children. But did I make a hospitable offer? Not selfish old me."

"I came home at night, remembering to bring in the garbage pails, while my leader holed up in the Hotel Carlyle, with the noise and soot of New York seeping in the windows. Well, from now on, the latch key is out. If you are in touch with Mr. Kennedy, please explain a few things for me."

"Speaking of the key, as you turn it, Mr. President, if you pull the door knob toward you and slightly to the left, at the same time applying a little pressure against the lower part of the door with your right knee, it opens easily."

"You'll find just about everything you need, but should Mrs. Kennedy want to pick up a few things, the shopping center is a short walk down the hill. If you bring the car, of course, you've got it made."

"Come to think of it, the garage is accustomed to a Hillman Minx, so if you bring the big job with the plexiglass dome, it may not fit. In this case, take down the wheelbarrow which hangs on the far wall. If you run her up flush with this wall, she'll just about make it."

"My wife has just reminded me of something else. She says you should tell Jackie not to turn on the dishwasher when you're planning to take a bath. Seems the hot water tank cannot handle two jobs at once. We have learned to space the use of hot water."

"Now she's thinking of some other things. Isn't that just like a woman, Mr. President? She says the back stairs to the kitchen will be no problem to Caroline, but they are steep and tricky and might be dangerous for little John. Our children are teen-agers, so we long ago took down the accordion gate at the top of the stairs. But the brackets are still there and I'd feel a lot easier if you would put the gate back on. It's in the attic directly behind the Nixon biography."

"If the phone rings, you can answer it or not, as you please, but if a voice on the other end says 'Guess who this is?' you don't have to guess because it's my Uncle Charlie. He thinks it's a very funny opening, especially if you guess wrong. If the phone company calls, tell them it's in the mail. There may be some other phone calls, but these will be actors who work in my television shows. If they sound like Peter Lawford, tell them I will call back."

"On occasion, especially late at night, you may be alarmed to hear loud hammering in the distance, appearing to come closer. Tell the children not to be frightened — it's the heat coming up. Sometimes it comes up pretty loud but, without it, the house gets pretty cold. I guess no house is perfect, Mr. President. I recall reading that Mr. Truman spent five million on the White House, just to keep it from sinking into the lawn, so we all have our troubles."

"I doubt that you will be having any emergency Cabinet meetings in New York, but if one should come up, the cellar is the only place large enough. Get someone to push the sugar barrels and albums and baby shoes to one side, and you will find enough room — dry and clean, too — for a large table. If you hear a noise like a muffled jet, it's the oil burner."

"Oh yes — a word of caution about my boy's room. He keeps a set of bar bells on the floor, on the far side of the bed where you can't see them. If you should walk around that side in your bare feet, especially in the dark, they could give you a nasty turn."

"If I should think of anything else, I'll leave a note on the blackboard in the kitchen. Please pay no attention to the other items on the board, such as 'livewurst, pot, s a l a d, gluten bread' and 'Bowling Thurs. 8 p.m.' and 'Take bath after dinner and do homework.' These are family items. Please do not erase them."

"In sum, Mr. President, I want you to feel at home. Just give me a couple of days notice before you make the next trip to New York. You won't be putting us out a bit. In fact, we'll be delighted to leave..."

Appalachian Area Highway Plan Complete

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A 2,150 mile highway system designed to open the economically depressed Appalachian area to industry and tourists was reported Tuesday for recommendation to the Kennedy Administration by the President's Appalachian Regional Commission (PARC).

The system, which includes four roads for West Virginia, is part of a report on needs of Appalachia that resulted from a six-month study of the region by the commission.

President Kennedy called for the study during a meeting at the White House last April of the Conference of Appalachian Governors.

The "development highways" would serve in some cases to connect existing or projected segments of the Interstate Highway System.

80-20 Cost Split

The Commission suggested that the roads be built under supervision of the Bureau of Public Roads and an Appalachian Development corporation. Costs were not disclosed but PARC will suggest that expenditures be split on an 80-20 basis by the two agencies.

The corporation would be a regional organization directed by state governors and federal officials.

The proposed highway network would include:

- A route from Charleston, W. Va., through eastern Kentucky to Tennessee, and another route from Portsmouth, Ohio, south to Asheville, N.C., connecting with existing superhighways to Columbus, Ohio, and Charleston, S.C.
- A route from Beckley, W. Va., northeast to central Pennsylvania, tied in with an improved U.S. 40 linking western Maryland with Interstate 79 south of Pittsburgh, Pa.
- A road linking the western end of Interstate 66 at Strasburg, Va., to Parkersburg, W. Va., with the Cincinnati, Ohio, area, and a scenic road from Staunton, Va., westward into West Virginia.
- Other roads in Pennsylvania and North Carolina.

Anticipates Needs

The new roads would be built in anticipation of need, with an eye to attracting tourist traffic, stimulating industrial and other economic growth, and providing the area with a link to "the outside."

It was anticipated that Under Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. would bring up the proposal when he confers with eastern Kentucky leaders and speaks to a luncheon meeting of the Kentucky Development Day Conference on the University of Kentucky campus at Lexington today.

Volunteers Needed In MD Drive

"Everyone can do something to aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy," was expressed last night by Cumberland's Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, chairman of the Allegany-Garrett County MD Chapter, who said volunteers are needed to work in a house-to-house canvass which will be held in the Queen City during Thanksgiving week.

Local residents who would like to do their part in combatting the crippling disease, which affects the young and old, are asked to contact Mrs. Eva Dahl by calling PA 2-1869.

Some 300 volunteers are needed, according to the chairman who said that many residents have been contacted and have indicated they will help in the campaign.

The city will be divided into districts and workers will be provided with kits which will contain instructions, receipt blanks for donations and also identification tags.

Funds are needed, according to Chief Parker, to help research find a cure for the mysterious disease which cripples by turning muscles into fat.

Of the more than 200,000 American victims, most are children in whom the disease is nearly always fatal. The malady is obscure in origin, he added.

Edgar Bucy, city fireman, is in charge of publicity for the campaign. He said that canisters have been placed in local business places and members of Boy Scout troops of Cumberland will distribute pamphlets explaining the disease.

Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, is chairman of the canister distribution in that community and other towns along Georges Creek as well as communities in Garrett County where volunteer firemen will do their part in the drive for funds.

PSC To Dedicate New Residence Hall

KEYSER — Lloyd Lowndes Friend, the man for whom Potomac State College's newest residence building, Friend Hall, which will be dedicated Saturday, served as the first administrator of the school (1902-1905).

The Twentieth Century was just beginning, and secondary schools were not too numerous in West Virginia. Judge Francis Marion Reynolds (for whom Reynolds Hall was named) was a member of the State Legislature at the time. It was he who framed, introduced, and helped to pass a bill bringing into existence the Keyser Preparatory Branch of West Virginia University, February 15, 1901.

Col. Thomas B. Davis (for whom Davis Hall was named) donated 16 acres of land on Fort Hill for the new school. This was historic ground, originally part of a grant from the King of England to Lord Thomas Culpepper, whose heirs deeded it to Lord Thomas Fairfax many years before it came into the possession of Colonel Davis. During the Civil War, it was the site of Fort Fulcrum, manned by Union forces who had to yield it for a short time to Confederate forces.

The original Administration building was under construction by spring 1902, and that fall the first students enrolled with Mr. Friend, then 28 years of age, as the first principal. There were 80 students and seven instructors.

Lloyd L. Friend was born Dec. 14, 1874 at Friendsville, Md., a son of David A. and Phoebe (Rush) Friend. Though the facts are unknown, it appears likely that he was named for a former governor of Maryland, Gov. Lloyd Lowndes, the last of whose six children, Miss Elizabeth Lloyd Lowndes, 82, died in Cumberland, November 4.

He was educated in the primary school at Friendsville. Later he attended the W.Va. Conference Seminary at Buckhannon, the Preparatory School of West Virginia University, and received an AB degree in English at West Virginia University in 1897. He did graduate work at West Virginia and Columbia University, receiving both MA and MS degrees in 1906 from the latter institution.

Meantime, at the age of 18, two years before beginning his college work at the University, Lloyd Friend embarked on a teaching career in a rural school in Taylor County. This was a career of dedicated service to education which was to continue for over 50 years.

Following graduation from the University, he taught English at the Montgomery Preparatory Branch of the University for a year then taught English for four years in the preparatory department of the University.

Now the machinery was set in order for the opening of the Keyser Preparatory Branch of West Virginia University (now Potomac State College) and Mr. Friend was the one chosen to become the first principal. In addition to his administrative duties here, he taught English and Latin.

Little did he know that from its humble beginning, this school was destined to become in 1921 a junior college under the name "Potomac State School." By 1926, it received full accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Seminaries Schools. In 1935 the Legislature placed it under management of the Board of Governors of West Virginia University with the official name "Potomac State College of W.Va. University." The 1953 session of the Legislature further modified the name to "Potomac State College."

New Dormitory Cost Nearly Half Million

KEYSER — Friend Hall, new women's residence to be formally dedicated Saturday, was constructed through an appropriation of $460,000 approved in the spring of 1962 by the Home and Housing Administration. An additional $24,000 was spent to furnish this new campus facility capable of housing 100 women.

Construction was begun in September of 1962 by Mellon-Stuart Company, general contractors from Pittsburgh, with Leonard Murgi supervising.

Robert G. Bennett, Morgantown, was architect for the new dormitory, which has, in addition to 50 double bedrooms, a reception lounge, recreation room, laundry and storage area, a small infirmary, a resident counselor's apartment, and a sundeck.

Kyle and Company, Clarksburg, furnished the three-story, red brick structure, adjacent to Reynolds Hall.

become, in 1906 chief clerk in the State Department of Education. He was assistant State Superintendent of Schools (1908-10) and State Supervisor of High Schools (1910-24) before returning to West Virginia University in 1925 as Director of Summer School and Director of Admissions. He had also been on the summer school staff as an instructor from 1910 to 1918.

In 1925 he succeeded A. J. Hare as Registrar at the University, a position he held until March 1, 1944, when he was named Registrar Emeritus. He died in April 1944.

Mr. Friend found time for a number of activities through the years. He visited Europe in 1913 and made a three month study of folk high schools in Denmark, later publishing a book and several magazine articles on the subject. He was president of the State Education Association. He was a member of the accrediting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, 1912-20 and was committee chairman 1918-19.

Phi Beta Kappa elected him to membership. He belonged to Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity at West Virginia University and was active in the Morgantown Kiwanis Club and in the Methodist Church.

West Virginia's Water Resources Topic Of Conference November 21-22

KEYSER—Water resources and problems of West Virginia will be the subject of a symposium planned for November 21-22 at Mont Chateau State Park near Morgantown according to Emery L. Prunty, County Extension Agricultural Agent.

"Water is West Virginia's most abundant natural resource and its management and use is of importance as West Virginia enters its second century of statehood," Prunty said, adding that "without usable water, our state's economy will cease to grow."

The program on water resources will be a cooperative effort by the West Virginia University Appalachian Center, the W V U Agricultural Experiment Station, the West Virginia Geological and Economic Survey, the West Virginia Department of Natural Resources, and the State Chamber of Commerce.

"Even though rainfall averages about 43 inches annually, this does not mean that the available supply is adequate in all areas of the state," Prunty said. "In some sections, distribution is a critical problem. Elsewhere, droughts and floods occur periodically while the discharge of used waters by cities and industries generally impairs its quality. On the other hand, industrial expansion, agricultural development, shifts in population and a growing interest in water for recreation are increasing the demands for water."

The conference will provide an opportunity to review and evaluate the state's available water resources, present and projected uses, quality, and management programs. Conference officials also hope to enlist the active support of groups and individuals, including industrial, municipal, agricultural, and recreational interests, in outlining and implementing an effective water research program.

"The recent drought points up the importance of water in every phase of our economy," Prunty said. "These conditions suggest that the state, local communities, businesses and industries, and agricultural enterprises need to improve their individual and collective management plans for existing and future water needs."

Interested persons from Mineral County are invited to attend the conference.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U. S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $46 billion reserve in the government's hands is working vigorously today to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank—and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Four Top-Ranking College Teams One-Sided Favorites Saturday

Other Members Of Select Ten Facing Trouble

Pitt Rated Seven Points Over Army; Illinois Underdog

NEW YORK (UPI) — Texas, Navy, Mississippi and Michigan State—the four top-ranking college football teams in the nation—Tuesday were installed as one-sided favorites in games this weekend.

However, the other members of the top 10 faced trouble according to the odds makers.

Texas, No. 1 and the only major team with a perfect record, was a 12½ point favorite to crush Texas Christian (3-3-1) and pad its lead in the Southwest Conference race. The Longhorns will have only one more scheduled game after Saturday, against Texas A&M (1-6) on Thanksgiving Day.

Roger Staubach's accurate passing arm weighted Navy (No. 2) a heavy 12 point choice over host Duke in an interconference clash; Mississippi (No. 3) was made a 15½ favorite over Tennessee, in a renewal of their long, upset-marked rivalry in the Southeastern Conference, and Michigan State (No. 4), the big 10 leader, was a 13½ selection over battle-scarred Notre Dame.

Sooners, Bama By 6½

Pittsburgh (No. 5) was rated just seven points better than Army, ranked 12th in the nation. Oklahoma and Alabama, the sixth and seventh rated teams, respectively, were only 6½ choices over their opponents—Missouri (No. 5) and Georgia Tech (No. 13).

Illinois (No. 8) was the only member of the top 10 demoted to the underdog role. The Illini, which had its unbeaten streak snapped last Saturday by Michigan, were installed a three-point underdog to Wisconsin.

Nebraska (No. 9), the Big Eight leader, was a solid 16 point choice over Oklahoma State and 10th-ranked Auburn was a slim six-point favorite over host Georgia.

In other leading games: East — Boston College 12½ over Virginia; Harvard 5½ over Brown; Penn State 26 over Holy Cross; Princeton 8 over Yale; Syracuse 20 over Richmond.

WVU Slight Favorite

South — West Virginia 1 over Virginia Tech; Florida State 3 over North Carolina State; Clemson 9 over Maryland; South Carolina 17 over Wake Forest; Tulane 1½ over Vanderbilt; Mississippi State 2 over Louisiana State; North Carolina 2½ over Miami (Fla.).

MARSHALL "Biggie" Goldberg is among 25 men selected for the 1963 Silver Anniversary All-America Award announced by Sports Illustrated.

The award is for college graduates who played football in 1938 but is made on the basis of their subsequent careers "to point up the pursuit of rounded human values in which athletics and education are joined."

Marshall was born in Elkins but his mother, Mrs. Sol Goldberg, was from Cumberland and was Rebecca Fram prior to her marriage. The Frams owned a shoe store here. There were five Goldberg boys and Isadore was the only one born here.

"Biggie" was elected to Football's Hall of Fame in 1958. In 1938 he was an All-America fullback at Pitt. Two years before, as a sophomore, he had been an All-America halfback. He holds the all-time Pitt rushing record of 1,957 yards. Before and after the war, he played professional football with the Chicago Cardinals.

Goldberg is now vice president of the Emerman Machinery Corporation, of Chicago. During World War II he was a Naval gunnery officer and later served as an executive officer in the Pacific area.

ELMER M. DAILY, of Ebensburg, Pa., who served as president of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League for 27 years, observed his 74th birthday on Sunday.

Mr. Daily is the owner of the Penn-Eben Hotel at Ebensburg. He sold the Ebensburg Inn which is now Bishop Carroll High School.

A native of Waynesburg, Pa., Elmer was an all-around athlete at Bethany (W. Va.) College. He coached at Waynesburg and West Virginia Wesleyan colleges and served as athletic director at St. Francis College (Pa.) and Fairmont State (W. Va.) College. He was the property of the Detroit Tigers in 1910 and pitched in the New York-Penn. Tri-State and O. & P. Leagues.

We first met Elmer Daily 40 years ago when he managed the classy Somerset-Acosta team at Somerset county Pa.

Daily paid numerous visits during the eight years (1925-32) Cumberland was in the Middle Atlantic League and the cigar smoking baseball executive has many friends here. There were 12 teams in the Mid-Atlantic League of 1931 and the circuit was dubbed "Daily's Dozen."

WHEN West Virginia Wesleyan defeated Shepherd College Saturday at Buckhannon (26-0) it was the first shutout suffered by Jesse Riggelman's Rams in 34 games.

The Rams, who were undefeated (7-0-1) before the final game of the season with Wesleyan, were blanked for the first time since October 24, 1959 when they went down before Susquehanna, 14-0.

KEYSER High School has gone 39 games without being skunked and Romney has a string of 30 contests without a shutout.

POTOMAC State College's football team has concluded its poorest season since 1940.

The 1963 Catamounts finished with a 1-7 record, the lowest mark in 21 years. The 1940 team owned a 1-8 record and its only win was over Shepherd College, 41-0.

Pimlico Makes Bid For Mongo, Kelso Rematch

Pondfield Hoping To Revive Special

BALTIMORE (AP) — The owners of Mongo and Kelso, the one-two finishers in Monday's International horse race, were tempted Tuesday by Pimlico to meet in a rematch.

Lou Pondfield, executive director of Pimlico, said he will offer to revive its $50,000 Winner-Take-All Special or increase the purse for the Dixie Handicap Nov. 28 from $50,000 to $75,000 if Mongo and Kelso will run.

Mrs. Marion duPont Scott, owner of Mongo, and Richard C. duPont, Kelso's owner, both declined to say if they intended to start their horses again this year after their spirited battle in the International.

The two U. S. thoroughbreds battled for almost the last mile of the International by themselves while eight others from six foreign nations trailed. Mongo won by one-half length.

In offering to revive the Pimlico Special which was discontinued in 1959, Pondfield suggested that The Axe II join Kelso and Mongo in it.

The Axe II, a standout grass performer, had been a standby in case Kelso or Mongo was withdrawn from the International.

The Special, which was inaugurated in 1937, had been 13-16 miles on the dirt where Kelso has built his reputation. The Dixie Handicap at 1½ miles on the grass is the same as the International.

The Special was the country's first race by invitation and the winner took the entire purse until 1953. Pimlico discontinued it for lack of worthwhile contenders, but at the time said it

Navy, Rated No. 2, Is Concerned With Beating Army, Duke

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Wayne Hardin said Tuesday Navy is very pleased to be rated No. 2 football team in the country but is more concerned right now with beating Duke and then Army.

"With these two games still to be played, we're not concerned about ratings at this time," Hardin said. "But I hope we're going to win them both and I hope we're going to wind up No. 1."

Hardin, who has often said of ratings that there at least 100 teams in the country capable of beating any other on a given Saturday, added as an afterthought: "Actually, it is nice to be considered the No. 2 team. I believe that's the highest a Navy team has ever been rated."

The Middies moved up from No. 4 in last week's AP poll on the strength of a convincing 42-7 victory over rival Maryland.

would be revived if a situation arose to warrant it.

"I think that time has come," Pondfield said, "especially this year which is the 25th anniversary of the Seabiscuit-War Admiral race."

Seabiscuit and War Admiral met in strictly a match race with the former winning by four lengths.

Keller Denies Joining Yanks

Charlie Rumored To Become Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra, newly named manager of the New York Yankees, has called a press conference for Wednesday noon at which time he is expected to name Charlie (King-Kong) Keller, former outfielder, to the coaching post the rookie pilot vacated.

At his farm near Frederick, Md., however, Keller denied the report.

"There's nothing to it," he said. "It seems as though somebody has the wrong information."

Except for serving as an emergency fill-in coach for the Yankees, Keller has lived on his farm since retirement raising standardbred horses. He was an outfielder for New York from 1939 through 1952.

Asked if he would be willing to give up his suburban living for the nomad baseball life, Keller said, "No, it's just the opposite. I'm happy where I am."

Berra was first base coach of the Yankees under Manager Ralph Houk last season. Houk recently was elevated to general manager.

Berra was given permission to name his entire coaching staff when he took the managerial job on Oct. 23. He is expected to retain Frank Crosetti, who has been with the club as player and coach since 1932; Jim Hegan, the bullpen catcher, and Johnny Sain, as pitching mentor.

Winchester Rd. Rezoning Plan Is Rejected

Residents Oppose Office Building

Shortly after a public hearing at the LaVale Fire Hall last night, the LaVale Zoning Board decided unanimously to reject an application from Cody and Company for the rezoning of a lot along the northeasterly side of Winchester Road at the edge of Coverwood from Residential A to Commercial A.

Richard F. Cody, president of the corporation which holds an option to buy the lot in question, said his firm planned to construct an office building on the lot for insurance agents, doctors and attorneys.

Although most of the testimony at the hearing was given by four persons in favor of the rezoning, most of the people attending the hearing, including the home owners in Coverwood, were opposed to the proposed zoning change.

25 Oppose Change

On a show of hands requested by John L. Conway, board chairman, at the close of the hearing, 25 persons expressed themselves against the proposed change while only two favored the change to commercial use.

Ralph G. Cover, who developed Coverwood which now has 53 homes, owns the land which he proposed to sell to the Cody firm. He showed the board a building permit he had obtained on June 14, 1957, from James G. Stevenson, clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, for the construction of a service station and store on the lot in question.

After he obtained the permit, Mr. Cover said, the State Roads Commission bought part of his land to widen Winchester Road and he never built on the lot.

Leslie J. Clark, who appeared at the hearing as attorney for Mr. Cody, explained at the start that under Residential A zoning, Mr. Cover could use the lot for an apartment house, for agriculture, for a church, for a park or playground as well as a greenhouse.

The only other proponent for the zoning change was James W. Beacham, local real estate man. He said that the proposed office building is the best possible use that can be made of the lot.

Cross-Examined Mr. Cover

Most of the objection to the change came in the form of cross-examination of Mr. Cover by persons living in Coverwood.

The most vocal opponent of the change actually was a Keyser attorney, John F. Somerville Jr., who emphasized that the Coverwood home owners had invested substantial sums in their homes and did not want them depreciated in value. Mr. Somerville appeared as attorney for George H. Drury.

Residents of Coverwood who stressed their objections to the change included B. F. Lokey, whose residence is adjacent to the lot in question; William H. Cloward, John A. Weissenfluh, J. G. Corl and Mrs. W. Robert Lowstuter.

The Coverwood spokesmen contended that Searstown across Winchester Road from their development has depreciated property values in Coverwood.

About 35 persons attended the hearing.

Other members of the LaVale Zoning Board are John J. Rowan and Harry E. White.

Recent Rains Fail To Boost Water Supply

The ban on the use of city water for non-essential purposes will remain in effect a while longer.

That was the word from City Hall yesterday after the Mayor and Council received a report on last week's water consumption and the status of supplies at the city's two big reservoirs.

Consumption last week averaged 10,877,000 gallons daily, slightly under last year's 11,327,000 gallons.

The water level in Lake Gordon on Sunday was five feet, nine inches below the spillway—five inches below last week's level, and Lake Koon stood at 16 feet below its crest—the same as last week.

The report is a tribute to the effectiveness of well developed forest lands which soak up moisture like a sponge and then let it down slowly.

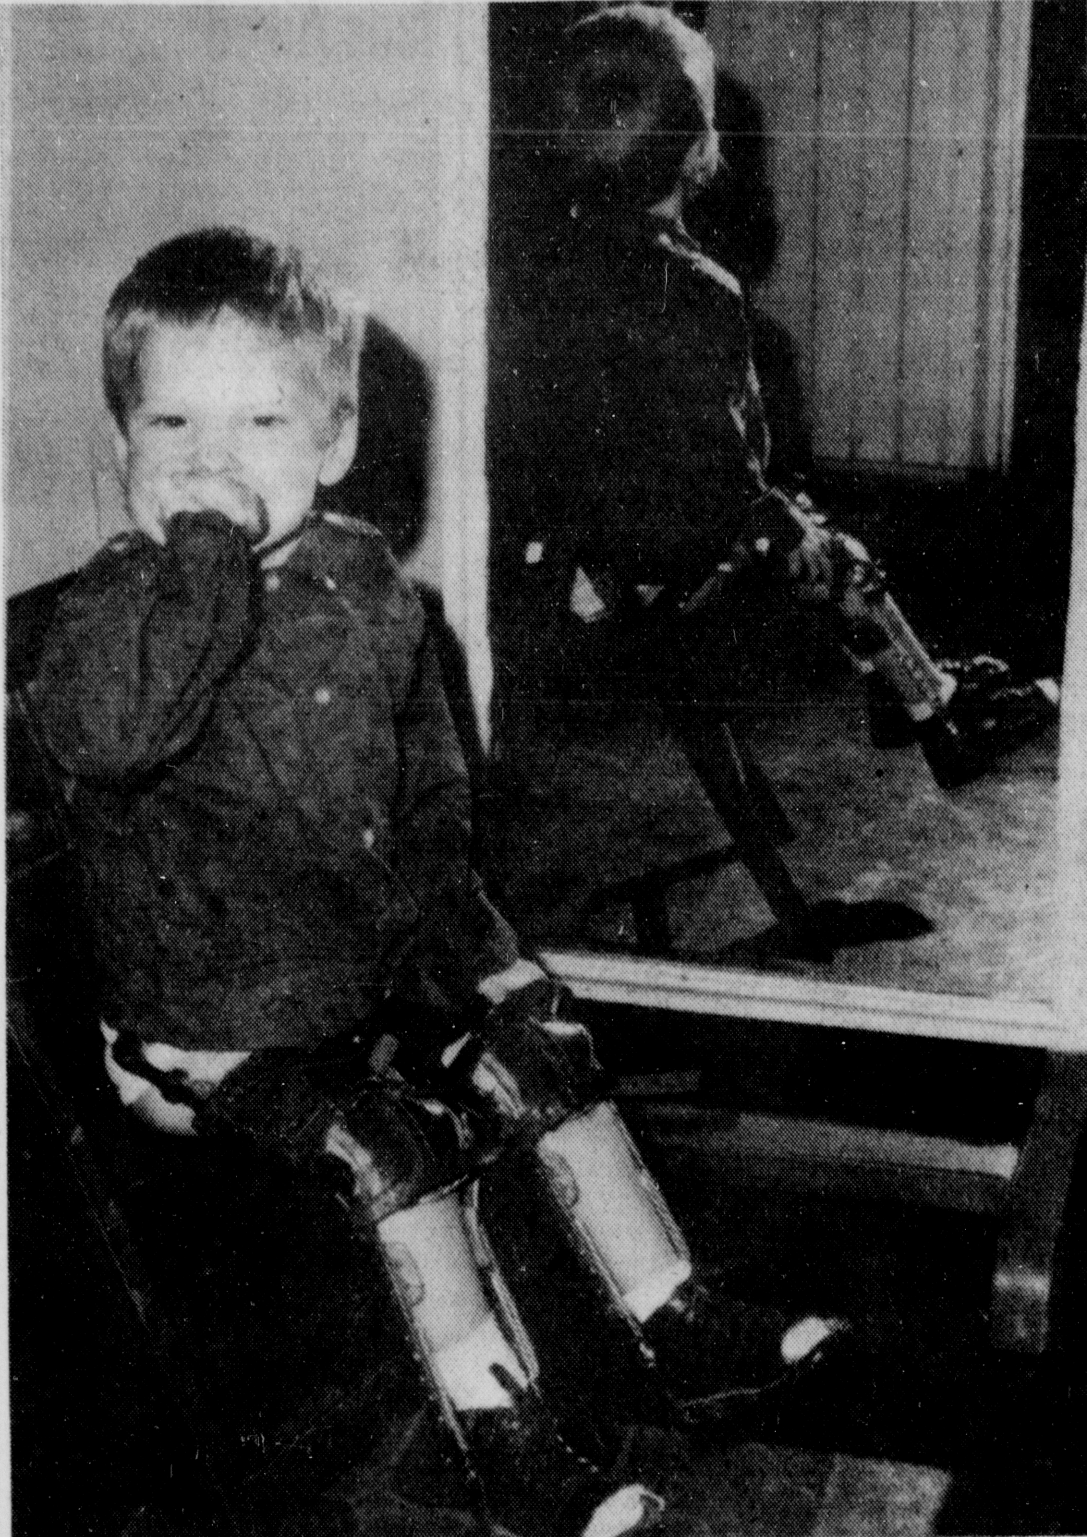

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the department has received a number of calls concerning the water ban and that the word is "The ban is still on."

Permit For Medical Office Unit Sought

An application to build a medical office building on the West Side has been referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Irving Millenson, local real estate agent, yesterday sought an occupancy permit to demolish a dwelling at 403 Fayette Street and to use the lot as the site of a 50 by 170 foot, one or two-story medical office building.

Child To Benefit From Dance

Louden Baker, four-year-old son of Mrs. Rachel Baker, Oldtown, has been a patient of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children since the first year of his life. He suffers a muscular disease which requires a full body brace. The child is one of hundreds receiving League treatment. The League's second annual Charity Ball, all proceeds from which go to its work, will be held November 30 at the home of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, South Centre Street.

Charity Ball Proceeds To Aid Crippled League

Little Loudon Baker is slightly over four years old, and except for seven months of his life he has been a patient of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children.

Louden was born May 20, 1959, and is the son of Mrs. Rachel Baker, RD 1, Oldtown.

He is the ninth child in the family and was admitted to Kernans Hospital, Baltimore, February 25, 1960. He started regular visits to the League when discharged.

The youngster has a muscular disease which takes away control over his muscles. It is a type of paralysis which may be secondary to polio. As a result, he must wear a full body brace both for control and to prevent deformities.

The care given to the young boy is only one example of the hundreds of similar cases which the League has each year.

The League, an independent agency supported solely by voluntary contributions, will have its second annual Informal Charity Ball Saturday, November 30, at the home of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, South Centre Street, with all proceeds going to its work.

Two bands and the entertainment of "Dusty" Shaver will be featured. The Glenn Long Orchestra of Harrisburg, Pa., will play for dancing in the Cotillion Room of the Elks Lodge, and The Modernaires, local nine-piece orchestra, in the Diamond Ballroom.

Tickets are on sale to the public and may be obtained at Vandegriff's Music Shop, Baltimore Street, or The Sports Shoppe, North Centre Street. They also may be obtained by writing "Charity Ball Tickets, Box 876, Cumberland," or information may be obtained by calling PA 4-3130. Tickets are $5 a couple.

Charity Ball officials also urged those wishing to be listed as patrons in the official program to send donations to "Charity Ball Patrons, Box 876, Cumberland" by the first of next week.

Members of Cumberland Lodge 63, which is sponsoring an event for the League for the 18th year, also have been urged to honor their ticket and patron pledges as soon as possible.

Superintendent Webster also reported on two surveys he had conducted among superintendents in the 22 other Maryland counties. One question was, when is a school entitled to a full-time supervisory principal without teaching responsibilities? In 16 of the counties he found that a school had to have 10 or more teachers before getting a full-time principal. One county provides a full-time principal for five teachers. Four others, including Allegheny, have a full-time principal with six teachers. The other county provided a principal for eight teachers.

Mr. Webster also asked the county superintendents about their experience with school trustees. Thirteen Maryland counties have no trustees and of the nine other counties, three have trustees in elementary schools only.

The superintendent distributed to the board members a two-page digest of the history of school trustees in Maryland. The rule of school trustees changed by law from control in 1888 to supervision in 1872 and to care in 1916.

Students Honored At College Park

Three Allegheny County students were among 350 honored at the University of Maryland fourth annual honors convocation Friday at College Park.

Awarded "certificates of distinguished scholarship" for attaining a 3.5 cumulative average or above out of a possible 4.0 points last year were Donald Zareffos, 61 Broadway, Frostburg, a junior majoring in mathematics; Charles Puffinberger, Little Orleans, senior agriculture education student, and Robert Reidler, 51 High Street, Lonaconing, an engineering student.

Acting College President Asks Faculty Support

Dr. R. S. Bremen Outlines Goals

Dr. Rudolph S. Bremen, acting president of Frostburg State College, last night told members of his faculty "that without your full cooperation and enthusiastic support this college is doomed to a lifeless mediocrity."

Dr. Bremen was named acting president of the college Saturday by the Board of Trustees of Maryland State Colleges after it was announced that R. Bowen Hardesty had been relieved of his duties to undergo medical treatment.

In his first meeting last night with faculty members, Dr. Bremen discussed issues related to the well-being of Frostburg State College and its faculty.

He said, "I appear before you with full and sympathetic understanding of the problems which confront us in our academic and personal situations."

Appeals For Support

"I appeal to your sense of professional dedication in resolving them. For without your full and enthusiastic support this college is doomed to a lifeless mediocrity. Real change and reform must begin with the very substance of the college: its tradition of learning, its faculty and its student body."

"I submit to you that a productive relationship must exist if we are to realize the ideals to which we are dedicated."

Dr. Bremen also pointed out the need for certain committees which would benefit the college. He said a committee of the faculty should exist and function and that a nominating committee and curriculum committee, for instance, must be set up so the faculty may share in the responsibilities of the educational program.

In stressing the importance of the oncoming self-study for reaccreditation, Dr. Bremen said, "Without minimizing the work involved, I would submit that this study can and should be the most valuable aid that we have in finding out just who and what we are as an academic community."

Coppie Speaks

Comber S. Coppie, newly-appointed executive director for Maryland state colleges, also spoke to the faculty gathering and emphasized the importance of the faculty uniting behind Dr. Bremen.

Following the talks by Dr. Bremen and Mr. Coppie, the meeting was opened for a question and answer period. The chief concern of the faculty was that it have a representative voice or a means of expressing its will to the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Bremen answered that a faculty senate would be considered as a possible organ to achieve this end.

In other action yesterday at the college, Dr. Bremen announced that Dr. George S. Barber, head of the English Department, would be the college's first public relations director.

The acting college president also said Dr. Barber will be acting chairman of the Division of Humanities, which Dr. Bremen headed until Saturday.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hardesty is a patient in Church Home and Hospital, Baltimore. A hospital spokesman said he was being treated for an upper respiratory ailment of his sinuses complicated by a heart condition and high blood pressure.

No visitors are permitted to see 53-year-old Mr. Hardesty. He has been granted an indefinite leave of absence by the Board of Trustees.

The regular business meeting and refreshments will follow.

County 4-H Achievement Program This Evening

Approximately 275 members of Allegheny County 4-H Clubs are expected to attend the annual Achievement Night program this evening at 7:30 in St. Mary's social hall.

Co-chairmen of the event are Charles Babich, assistant farm agent of the county and Miss Linda Boardman, assistant home demonstration agent, who said the program will center around mock campfire activities in charge of the 4-H Older Youth.

Features of the evening will be stunts and skits and the presentation of awards and a Key award for outstanding club work as well as the Citizenship award.

Local leaders with many years of service will be given special recognition, said Mr. Babich. About 25 clubs throughout the county are expected to be represented at the event.

The campfire theme will have four tribes—Head, Heart, Hands and Health, which are the 4-H symbols.

The O-Chief will be Miss Eileen Morgan of Frostburg and the song leader will be her sister, Helen Morgan.

Leader of the Head tribe will be Suzanne Weatherholt, Union Grove, who will be assisted by James Shipley of Baltimore Pike.

Rheba James, Lonaconing, will be Heart tribe leader and will be assisted by Greg Crouch of Coriganville. The Hands tribe leader is Royce Simpson, Baltimore Pike who will have Joan Miltenberger, Ridgeley, as his assistant. James Robinson of Mt. Savage is the Health tribe leader with Joyce Simpson, Baltimore Pike as his assistant.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the evening's activities.

Transportation Plan Suggested For This Area

The preparation of a comprehensive transportation plan for the Cumberland area has been suggested by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The suggestion was made by John B. Funk, chairman-director of the commission, in a letter received yesterday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Mr. Funk's proposal calls for using the recent traffic survey as the nucleus of the transportation plan which would be worked out by a Coordinating Transportation Committee.

The SRC chairman pointed out that the Bureau of Traffic of the SRC, in cooperation with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, conducted a traffic study in and around the City of Cumberland this summer.

During the study, motorists were stopped at various locations and questioned as to the origin and destination of their trip.

Updates 1950 Study

The results of the study will provide valuable information regarding the travel desires of the people in the Cumberland area and will make it possible to plan future streets and highways in a logical manner and to provide the best traffic service, Mr. Funk said.

It will be particularly valuable, city officials feel, since it will update all details of the 1950 traffic study made by the SRC in cooperation with the City of Cumberland and the Bureau of Public Works.

Mr. Funk pointed out that William F. DeMare, director of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum were contacted by SRC representatives prior to and during the study and were most cooperative.

Asks Committee

The information obtained during the traffic survey is being processed, Mr. Funk said, and results will be tabulated and available (Continued on Page 8)

Forest Fire Danger Again On Increase

The forest fire situation in Western Maryland and nearby counties of West Virginia is moving toward the dangerous stage once again, forestry department officials said last night.

Although no forest fires have been reported in the four western-most counties of Maryland since drenching rains fell last week, the dry weather of the past few days has resulted in the threat of costly fires which can be caused by carelessness of persons traveling through wooded areas.

John Porter, district forester for eight counties in West Virginia including Mineral, Hampshire and Hardy counties, said about two acres of woods were burned yesterday in a Morgan County fire.

School Board Agrees To Buy Feeney Tract

17 1/2 Acres Needed Will Cost $72,625

The Allegheny County Board of Education yesterday approved the contract to purchase 17 1/2 acres of the Feeney farm for $72,625 for the proposed South End Junior High School.

The decision was made after Robert MacDonald Bruce, attorney to the board, explained the contract which had been forwarded to him by F. Gerard Feeney, a South Bend, Ind., attorney, who is one of the owners of the farm.

The farm, situated near the intersection of Ayondale and Kent avenues, contains over 27 acres. Eventually, after months of negotiation, the Feeney heirs agreed to sell to the school board that portion of the land needed for the school site at $4,150 per acre.

17 1/2 Acres Needed

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and board members ultimately agreed that 17 1/2 acres would suffice for the school's need.

Mr. Bruce explained some of the details which must be ironed out before the county can acquire title to the property. One problem is that William L. Feeney, one of the heirs of Patrick Feeney, has sold his one-seventh interest in the property to another member of the family.

The school board will insist that the deed for this transaction be recorded before the deed giving the board title to the 17 1/2 acres is recorded.

Under the arrangements, the school board is to make a down payment of $18,156.25 and then pay the other 75 per cent, $54,468.75, by January 15, 1964.

Formal approval also was given by the County Board of Education to the awarding of the contract for the Beall High School addition to the John I. Vandegrift Company on a low bid of $206,100. Bids were opened October 25 and the board members verbally agreed at that time to the awarding of the contract to the low bidder.

Letters From North End

A final school construction topic discussed by the board involved the letter-writing campaign to have the type of heating for the North End Junior High School, under construction since late August, changed from coal to gas.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the board, had with him a copy of a long form letter which had been written by Dr. Leland B. Ransom, urging residents of North End to write board members urging the switch to gas heat as a means of keeping that residential neighborhood clean.

Mr. Jackson also had a stack of smaller form letters which North End residents had mailed to him. He said he personally had received 34, including about six with personal notes attached. Other board members had received 23 more letters of the same type.

A decision to heat the North End school with coal, the same fuel used in all other public schools in the county, was made by the board last April. The contract was awarded August 20 to George Construction Company to build the school and at that time it was again agreed that coal was the most economical for the school. The board did agree to purchase a soot collector at the August meeting as a means of keeping down dirt in the neighborhood.

Board members agreed that many of the North End residents seemed misinformed about the school. There has been no change in the basic plans for the school. Several classrooms were eliminated between the first and second receipt of bids in August and nothing else. The school will be built of light-colored bricks and not of any other construction. Franklin Street will be extended to run past the school. The school itself will face on a yet-to-be-built street connecting the extended Franklin Street and Holland Street. This is clearly shown in the architect's drawing of the school.

We sincerely suggest you start your Christmas shopping now . . . and enjoy selection from peak stocks of fresh new merchandise.

116 YEAR OLD POLICY UNCHANGED

The policy of the NEW Rosenbaum store will be identical with that of our Downtown store . . . a policy from which we have not deviated since its inception more than 116 years ago. YOU . . . the customer MUST be satisfied . . . that is your guarantee and your protection. All merchandise offered must be of dependable quality and attractively priced. Service must be prompt, helpful and courteous.

COMPLETE SIZE AND COLOR RANGE

When you shop you have a right to expect to find the size you want in the color you want and at the price you wish to pay. We promise that we shall do everything possible to satisfy your every wish in this direction . . . we are in business to please you and to retain you as one of our regular everyday customers who can depend on us just as we must depend on you.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER FLOCK TOGETHER

You can judge a store by the Brand Names it carries . . . just as you can judge the character of a person by the company he keeps. On this page we have reproduced dozens of the Brand Names that will be featured in our new store. There are no finer Brand Names in America . . . they are your assurance of dependable merchandise. We have great respect for these Brand Names . . . just as they have for us. We enjoy each other's company because years and years of mutual cooperation have earned our mutual respects.

TOP QUALITY NAMES

Value and quality are essential ingredients in running a good store that has the respect of a community. Our new Searstown store will, in this respect, pattern itself after our Downtown store . . . which has held unswervingly to a policy of fairness, quality and value since the Founders first opened the doors more than a century ago. Our NEW store is fully prepared to cope with the needs and expectations of the shoppers of an important and expanding community.

CHARGE YOUR PURCHASES . . . NO DOWN PAYMENT

Our credit policy for the NEW store will follow that of the Downtown store. You may purchase anything you need and just say "charge it." You need pay nothing down and you may take up to 10 months to pay. In some cases the time limit can be extended to 18 or even 24 months to pay. Rosenbaum's Charge-a-Plate is good in either store.

COURTEOUS . . . EXPERIENCED PERSONNEL

The personnel of Rosenbaum's NEW store has been hand selected and thoroughly trained to help you with your shopping problems large or small. Mrs. W. G. Lee, manager of our NEW store comes from our Downtown store where she has had many years of valuable experience as a top flight merchandising executive.

REGISTER FOR FREE VALUABLE PRIZES

It's our NEW store opening . . . but you get the presents. You will find registration booths outside the entrances to our NEW store. All you have to do is register your name and address for the drawings. The drawing for winners will take place at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, November 23. You need not be present to win. Rosenbaum employees are not eligible for free prize drawing.

SEE OTHER ROSENBAUM NEWS IN THIS SECTION

Rosenbaum's will continue to bring you week after week the news of important merchandise offerings in the Downtown store and the Searstown store via the pages of the Cumberland Times and News. Our prompt mail and phone order service will bring you as close to us as your telephone or your mail box.
